

DEBORAH BOSWELL

PROFESSIONAL SPEECH SERVICES OF ALABAMA, P.C.

Deborah Boswell works with some of the nation's top companies, coaching executives, managers, and technical professionals to communicate their true credibility to any audience. She blends her skills in speech pathology with over 20 years of corporate experience to help solve a company's specific communication problems.

Deborah's audiences benefit immediately...with sharpened skills, reduced fear, and increased confidence. Her keynote messages are entertaining and her presentation skills courses equip business communicators to sell, convince, and motivate.

Deborah's innovative approach to solving business communication challenges makes her an in-demand communications coach and consultant. She works with executives and other leaders on their schedule—helping to solve their specific business communication challenges.

Deborah has been featured in Business Alabama, Birmingham Business Journal, SMPS Newsletter and other publications. Deborah recently released an audio CD, "Tame Your Wild Southern Accent." Auburn University selected her to produce the DVD, "Technically Speaking: Presentations Skills for Engineers and Technical Professionals" as part of their Engineering continuing education curriculum.

In addition to her training, speaking and coaching, Deborah is president of Professional Speech Services of Alabama, P.C. and managing partner of ChildsPlay Therapy Center.
